“ My most prominent memory of Brad is his dedication and love for his daughters from the time they were born, right through their adult lives. He loved them endlessly, tirelessly and gently. He was a man of few words, but his kind heart and smile said it all. He had a special chuckle that was his alone. He always had that smile and chuckle for you, even in his hardest times, which showed who Brad was better than any words.

When our kids were still little, we spend many weekends playing cards with Brad and Natalie until the wee hours of the night. We shared many laughs during those times.

Over the years, we have drifted from sharing those times, but for on special occasions, and that is sad. But no matter what the length of time between visits, Brad was still Brad.

May you rest in peace my dear and walk hand in hand with your loved ones again.

We will meet again one day. With saddened hearts and souls we say good bye for now

XO Love Bev and Craig
