“ When I met Putz, he wanted me to sing... So, I sang a duet with his friend... " I've Got You, Babe" by Sonny and Cher, wearing Putz's glasses, so I could see the karaoke words on the screen. I wasn't a 'karaoke' singer, or any kind of singer until that night. So, everyone has Putz to blame for starting me down this path.

All the fun times in the yard (or garage) sitting around the fire, singing and dancing... Cruise day just won't be the same ever again.

And, our 'wedding day'.... well, you just had to be there to understand.

The priest asked us to remember something we learned from Putz. So, I will share.

Life is real, and not a dress rehearsal... so live life to it's fullest. BUT, remember to always live it on 'your' terms, not to anyone else's standard. Anyone who really knew Putz, knew that's what he did.

(And to those who thought he didn't 'notice'... he did. Often times he would share with me that 'they' think I didn't notice, but I did. He used to tell me, 'listen with your eyes'.)

RIP my friend... Say hi to your Mom for me. <3 Sue

“ Putz and I grew up together. I remember a lot of things. He was driving when he was 14. We went to elementary all the way to RHS. I saw him one time in 50 years. GOD BLESS HIM. (TICK) Rich Crnkovich.
