“ Still thinking about you every day and the life you were planning with me. I miss you so much!! Guess we will never find out Stuarts and Codys reaction when I moved in with you. I should have taken the keys when you offered them. Sorry about the way I reacted when you said you wanted a commitment. Thought I had been with the best out there, but the best had been waiting for me to find him. It was so easy for you to tell my sister that you loved me and I will never forget that night, or how I would try to hide from you when we first met! I know you are waiting for me, so keep the bed warm until I get there. LOL I love you.

“ I would like to first say how deeply sorry I am for your loss. George was very dear to me and he shared his life with so many. I have shared many happy times with him and have embraced our friendship deeply. I honor his memory today by saying he was a man who loved his mother, sisters and his boys. The addition of his granddaughter brought him great joy, he bragged of her often. I also was aware of how proud he was of both his sons and spoke of this often too. George had a sense of humor and a way of looking at life that captivated the lowest of hearts. I believe if George would want for anything...he would say for his family to love each other and to be happy. I think that he would thank each friend for the life he got to share with all of you and that he loved each of you dearly. I will forever remember this man and the depth of my heart he touched. I miss you George and I believe I will see you again, till then rest my dear friend. Always, Jenny Sinclair
