“ Daddy.. I love you, and I always will. You are the greatest man I've ever known, or ever will know. You taught me so many things, so many life lessons that I will never forget. I love thatcroked Lil grin, and that sweet laugh, you loved to laugh!! I'll miss your stories and your little sayings, you had so many. Some funny, others very wise. The smartest man I ever knew, there's nothing you couldn't fix! We will take care of momma daddy. I'll see you again someday. Don't worry daddy, I won't do nothing you wouldn't do, and I won't take any wooden nickles!! Good Lord willing and the creek don't rise, someday I'll be looking for that oak tree with the yellow ribbon tied around it, and ill see that sweet little grin. Ill run to you with open arms daddy, and I'll hug you so tight never to let go again.

Love always daddy

“ Dearest Dad,

Your services and visitation was absolutely awesome and grand, there is no doubt that you never knew how many people you touched the heart of, wow!

You taught us well about being strong, and celebrating life, and even though there were many tears, that was exactly what we did. We know what we had in you, we sat together as a family at dinner time, we always said "I love you" to each other all the time, and that is what family means.

Your sweet soul will always be with me, guiding me, and helping find more old signs!! And I am sure that you will check in now and then, in your own little joking way. You are and always be the best Dad ever, so many memories, so many adventures, so much love.

God Bless your heart Dad,

Your little Buddy,

Love you Rick

“ Dad,

Today at your visitation proved for sure what we all already knew, how much you touched the heart of so many people and how much you are truly loved. You lead by example for all of us, to always give the good fight, and put our best foot forward, and to never give up on what we believe in.

You always had a sweet heart and soul, you always looked at life in a realistic, common sense way and said it how you seen it, always looking folks in the eye when you spoke and saying thank you.

I am and always will be so proud to call you Dad, we shared so much together with so many great memories, and doing the things that so many kids never dream of experiencing and I will always be thankful for that.

God bless your sweet soul, I know you are with your Family looking upon all of us down here, and letting them know how proud you are to see all of the great things you accomplished on earth and the goodness that you showed us all with simply doing the right things all the way down the line.

So no worries Dad, we will follow in your footsteps and keep our chins up, stand up straight and keep on keeping on, never giving up. Yes, you raised us with a lot of love and always taught us to say "I love you" to each other, and to " Don't do nothing I wouldn't do" I won't Dad, but I shall miss you greatly.

Your Little Buddy,

Your Son Rick

“Dad,
I just found out what a true heart break is when you slipped quietly into the arms of the Lord and went home. You took so much of me with you. I will reflect many times the conversations we've had, the laughter we shared, the jokes, those serious one on one talks and so much more. Daddy, I'm seriously going to miss you and I will have my moments, but, the love I carry in my heart for you will go on forever. Thank you for everything, Dad, through the rough times, the goodtimes, thank you for being my Dad. You promised you'd be waiting for me with open arms. I'll hold you to that one! You remember one thing I always said to you, "I'll be back, like an ol' boomerang, a bad penny." I'll see you again OH HAPPY DAY!!! You wait for me, Dad. I'll be along shortly. So much love for you, Daddy. Your loving daughter, Vern

“ My wonderful Pop! Oliver Stevens, the most respectful, loving man I have known or ever will. My pop taught me the best things in life are worth working hard for, to share the love and laughter, through the good times and the bad. A true American hero, as were all from the greatest generation. I will truly miss our long talks, that wonderful crooked smile, and he always said " Never Give Up", he lived by that and taught me to also, and I will cherish every moment every conversation, good or bad, that we shared. I love you Pop! Always have ,always will, Until I see you again, I know your loved ones were waiting for you. See you again when God calls me home Pop. Love, your proud son, Timbo, Timothy Lane Stevens

“Dad was a wonderful husband, father, son, brother, grandfather, and friend. He was a very happy man and had a wonderful outlook on life. He taught us all the important things in life, respect, love, family. He was more than my dad, he was my friend. He had the best stories and adventures. He was a WW2 war hero. He was a true patriot. He loved this country only second to his family. He taught me (and all of his family) right from wrong and gave us all the strength to cope with life's up and downs. I will always treasure his stories and his laugh. He always said with his laugh: "Noone gets out of this world alive"

I will see you again someday Dad

Love always,

Your son Gregory Oliver
