“ Dad would not want us to weep.
He'd rather we celebrate his life with a properly seasoned drink.
He would not tolerate us being sad.
He would want us to be grateful for every moment we had.
He was wearing the red uniform today
Sometimes it just works out that way.

“ Daddy,
I have no words, expect that I love you and miss you so much already... Thank you for every sacrifice you ever made for me and our family. You were such a brilliant man, and I was lucky I got to call you Dad. I will never forget all the memories and laughter we shared. When I have my children, they will know what a kind, generous, amazing man their grandfather was. Please stay by me, and help me find the strength to say farewell. I love you daddy, Im broken without you.

“ Daddy, I have no words, expect that I love you and I miss you so much already. I wish we had more time; I wish I could wrap my arms around you one more time and hear you call me Liz. Thank you Daddy for every sacrifice you ever made for us kids and the family. You were the most brilliant man I've ever had the pleasure of knowing, and I was lucky I got to call you my Dad. No one will ever replace the first man I ever loved. I will hold your memory strong, and the day I have my children they will know about how wonderful and amazing generous, kind and loving their grandfather was. You're forever in my heart, please stay by me and hold up, as I try to say farewell to you. I love you, Im broken without you.

“Gone too soon. Always full of energy. A sincere smile and laugh. Always a pleasure to work with through the years. May he rest in peace and his family know how many friends he had that are here to help them through this sad time.

“Mental picture: Being 6 or so houses down in the year of 1990(ish) when a certain family moved into the hood. Life changed for the zany. Wrestling matches, street hockey, spontaneous pizza parties, and hosting birthday parties for kids who didn't even live there! He was absolutely one of the gang of over sugarized youth with infinite energy. More often than not, the first one to the toy bin, the first to challenge you in some sweat filled Nintendo and Super Nintendo matches, and always delivered a flawlessly timed zinger that would set the room on fire with laughter. He was definitely every bodies second dad. Thank you for the memories and an awesome childhood. Love you dad.
